

New York Shopping Spree

What's hot from coast to coast!

New York Fashion: Summer Lovin'

We're just so anxious for summer, we've already started acting like its here. A recent outing with open-toed shoes and nighttime's barely-there camis indicate we're more than ready for warm sun and outdoor fun. But our most sparkling wink at summer comes from Juliet Jewelry.

Juliet designer, Julie Schmidt's 2005 collection flutters with turquoise stones, candy-shaded glass beads and crystals of varying pinks and golds. Hers is a complementary collision of extremes, as she utilizes chunky stones and big beads with a large focal centerpiece gem in one dynamic necklace, while Swarovski crystal earrings are often vintage inspired, yet fresh and delicate. It's summer fashion's most perfect contradiction—bold vs. beautiful. Juliet Jewelry shows us its okay to be both.

Schmidt has an impeccable flair for color combinations and twinkling creations. All pieces are handmade and incorporate Swarovski crystals, multi-faceted beads, freshwater pearls and semi-precious gemstones.

Browse the entire collection at www.julietjewelry.com

Frida Earrings, $44
1.25" cluster of faceted turquoise dangling from sterling silver lever backs.

Aida Earrings, $48
3" hoop earrings with dangling pink and fuchsia Swarovski crystals on sterling silver chain and lever backs.

Cece Necklace, $78
Gold Swarovski crystals dangle freely from a 16" gold-filled chain and clasp.

Juno Necklace, $98
Large Korean jade dangling from yellow and Korean jade, Swarovski crystals and turquoise glass. 16" long with sterling silver clasp.

Unity Necklace, $68
Multi-colored Swarovski crystals mingle with peacock grey freshwater pearls.

Unity Earrings, $24
Glass of soft white pearls topped with clear Swarovski crystal with iridescent finish on lever back sterling silver ear wires. A perfect set for the bride.